JS PROM SLATED ON THE 22ND

February is a month the Senior High School students look forward to with the holding of the Junior Senior Promenade. Aside from the fun and camaraderie, this event signifies the "coming of age" of the participants as they step into young adulthood with its purpose and responsibilities. It is also an occasion for the Grade 11 students to salute the achievements of the seniors while the Grade 12 bequeath the mantle of leadership to the juniors.

With the theme "Hollywood," the Grade 11 & 12 students of SSIS Malarayat and Batangas campuses will be in one JS Prom and it will be held on February 22, 2019 (Friday) at Summit Point Golf and Country Club from 5:00 to 10:00 PM. -Laureaus Miguel Sumague, 2 Spain

-Kathryn Louise Aranda, 6 China

"Identifying one's feelings and emotions is what we call helping one another. If you see someone look sad or upset, have a little chat to identify what is wrong with him/her."

-Raphael Iñigo Liwag, 6 China

"Staying true to who we are enables us to love ourselves, respect our differences, and show that the world dares us to be unique and to be comfortable in our own skin."

- Franz Margaux Perez, 10 Peru

"Without a discipline and determination, we are but a man that strays from success day by day."

-Stephanie Ann Castillo, 11 Egypt

"It is important to identify one's emotions and feelings because it affects one's actions and interactions with other people. I believe that the emotions that we feel influence the decisions that we are making everyday."

- John Jee Alcance, 12 South Africa

Teaching Kids Handle their Emotions

Use the logic of left brain to make sense out of feelings in the right.

Acknowledge what they are feeling and as they become calmer, ask them to explain what upset them and help guide them through their story, while investigating what triggered the meltdown.

Help kids tell their story. Talking may seem difficult at first, but the more a child can make sense of his or her story, the more integrated and calm he or she will become.

Teach your child that feelings go through us. When our child has calmed down, it is helpful to explain to them that feelings, even intense emotions, come and go.

Rupture and repair. By relaxing and acknowledging your reaction as a parent, you are demonstrating how to calm down, a lesson your children can apply when they find themselves in similar situations.

Keep calm and carry on. No matter what the scenario is, losing our temper is never the solution. Letting our emotional right brains take over only teaches our kids to feel as out of control as we're behaving.

WHEN NOT TO SEND YOUR CHILD TO SCHOOL

It is important for your child to attend school so as not to miss learning opportunities, and other activities that contribute to his/her growth and development. However, when your child is sick, top priority is to keep him/her well and safe. Thus, it is most advisable for him/her to stay home under the care of an adult or to immediately consult your doctor. This does not only keep your child from further harm, but also prevents spreading illness to others. Many viruses and germs are prevalent nowadays which makes it easy to catch and spread communicable diseases like hand, foot & mouth disease, chicken pox, measles and viral exanthem. These viruses are contagious; therefore, it can be spread quickly inside the classroom, risking the health of classmates, faculty and staff.

If your child complains/shows the following signs, please allow him/her to stay at home (or if these persist, consult your doctor): (1) fever, (2) diarrhea & vomiting, (3) sore eyes, (4) severe cough & colds, (5) rashes unless diagnosed by a doctor as non infectious, and (6) severe sore throat and if with white spots at the back of the throat with or without fever. Please note that communicable diseases have an incubation period of at least two weeks. A student will only be accepted in class with a medical certificate, only after the incubation period.
